

😊 This is very nice, Mike!

My Uncle Stephen is a person I can show respect for. He makes me smile when I'm sad. He has time for me. Like when I was completely bored, he let me play on his computer. He also lets me sometimes sleep there when my mom has to see a patient. Some times we eat dinner there. Every now and then we go places. He let's me watch his tv and all his movies. He works very hard for things. Whenever something breaks I know that he could fix it. He had to use a crutch for two years because of his hip and he worked hard to fix it, and I think that took courage. Those are the reasons I show respect for him.
